A POPULARIZED WATCH

THERE is much neat simplicity shown in the Special and Perfect Lentille Finish of the case of this Watch, giving it an appearance of Elegance and Good Taste which Watches at the same price do not offer.

The mechanism of to-day and the finish of the case is a considerable improvement compared with the original production of our

and of which Brigadier General Way wrote so flatteringly:

"I bought in your Shop the best timekeeper I ever saw. It has never been out of my pocket for 9 years and has never gone wrong and has never been touched by anyone, never been cleaned or oiled, and keeps better time than any Gold Watch I ever saw," &c., &c.

In addition to our usual written guarantee the dial of this Watch carries our name which is a further assurance of our absolute confidence in accepting sponsorship in even so cheap a timekeeper.

VETARZO BRAIN AND NERVE FOOD.

This remarkable compound, the result of the latest developments and achievements of modern chemistry, pharmacology, and therapeutics, is without a equal in all cases of defective nerve power, whether induced by worry, over-work, unhealthy climate, dissipation, excess, youthful imprudence, or other influences accidental to the wear and tear and haste or overstrain of modern life. Sleeplessness, trembings, palpitation, nervous dyspepsia, low spirits, mental and bodily prostration, muscular and local weakness, general and nervous debility, faulty nutrition, premature decay or deficiency of the vital forces, impaired vitality, harassing dreams, night disturbances, sudden startings, dimness of sight, defective hearing, loss of memory, inability to perform the various duties of life, or to enjoy its pleasures, restlessness that can settle to nothing, irritability of temper, female complaints, hysteria, painful periods, backache, bearing down sensations, nervous headache, wasting disease, night sweats, and all other phases of brain and nerve exhaustion, are successfully combated by this highly scientific preparation. Bracing up the system generally, it gives tone to the exhausted nerves, arrests all weakening wasting discharges, involuntary losses, &c.; restores the failing energies, and imparts new life and vigour to what had so recently seemed worn out, "used up," and valueless.

VETARZO BLOOD MEDICINE.

Never before was there anything like it, nor can its marvellous properties ever be equalled in all cases of poorness, impurity, or other imperfection of the blood from whatever cause arising. No sooner is it imbibed into the system than it permeates and penetrates to the minutest capillaries, overcoming and expelling the virus of disease, wheresoever and in whatsoever form met with; removing all blotches, pimples, scurf, scurvy, scrofulous and glandular swellings, discolorations, roughness and unsightly patches, &c. Its effects are almost magical in the treatment of gout, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, pains and swellings of the joints, discharges, secondary symptoms, eczema, lepra, psoriasis, bad legs, bad breasts, abscesses, ulcers, sores, goitre or Derbyshire neck, it improves the general health, and quickly removes long-standing bronchitis, asthma, and hacking, straining, spasmodic cough, too often the precursor of consumption.

CAUTION.—Ask for "VETARZO Brain and Nerve Food," or "VETARZO Blood Medicine," whichever is required, and see that you get them, as unprincipled vendors often try to palm off inferior preparations (usually their own manufacture), for the sake of extra profit. Price in England, 2/9. Every genuine bottle of these medicines bears the British Government Stamp with the words "VETARZO REMEDIES" impressed thereon, in white letters on a red ground, by direction of His Majesty's Hon. The ground floor of the building was used as a stable and a motor-car was kept there. The motor-car was burnt by igniting the petrol while the tank was being filled. Two horses which were stabled were slightly burnt, and two gharrees were also slightly damaged. The fire information was given to the fire brigade and engines from different stations arrived on the spot, but they were not used, as the fire was put out by the neighbours. The motor-car burnt was valued Rs. 3,000.

MOTOR CYCLING.—As motor cycles are becoming more popular in Bombay, and with a view to forming a governing body to look after the interests of both the public and motor cyclists, a meeting will be held in the grounds of Mr. T. Duff Blair's bungalow at Middle Colaba on Thursday the 6th instant at 6 p. m., (S. T.) It is proposed to form a Motor Cycling Club, in the rules of which particular attention will be given to (1) general behavior of motor cyclists in driving in the town, (2) for consideration to be given to restive horses, all types of vehicular traffic, and to children, pedestrians, etc. (3) to afford every assistance to the Police authorities, when called on, or when in a position to do so without being called on. In general, the aim of the Club is to be that they may so conduct matters that their machines may not be regarded in the light of a nuisance, but as a legitimate and healthy means of recreation. Attention to roads, routes for runs, sleeping accommodation, &c., will all in due course come under the scope of the Club. The bungalow where it is proposed to hold the above meeting is easily found, as it is at the junction of the two roads leading from the town to Upper Colaba and close to a Police Chowkey.

THE HEALTH OF THE ARMY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—In your Editorial footnote you miss my point. Your original contention was that the drafts in the "Rena" were an exceptionally needy lot. Generalising from this you conclude that the whole of our Indian recruits were degenerating and that therefore the high-water mark level of health recently attained, would not be maintained. My reply is :—First, that the drafts were too small to admit of any deductions whatever ; second, that they were exactly the same (even somewhat better, by reason of more scientific physical training) than similar drafts coming out any time these twenty years back ; and that therefore there was no reason to shout "wolf" as regards health.

Except during the brief reign of what "T. A." in his colloquial aptitude termed "Brodrieks" (now defunct) there has been no change in age or standard for many years : on the contrary, for some six years back specially trained Medical Officers have been added to the recruiting staff at home and every man is rigidly "vetted" before embarkation, I am quite with you in the desire to see this standard raised, but we shall not advance towards that desirable goal by selecting a peculiarly inept illustration and then crying

WOLF.

[Our correspondent may have the last word, but in future he must append his name and designation to what he would have our readers believe is an authoritative statement of fact.—ED. "B.G."]

THE BHORE GHAUT BLOCK CLEARED.

Heavy rain having caused big slips on the Bore Ghauts, railway trains could not pass and traffic was interrupted. No trains could pass on Sunday as was already reported. Repairs were quickly effected and through-traffic was resumed yesterday and the Poona Mail left Victoria Terminus at 2-45 p. m. as usual.

HYDERABAD NOTES.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

HYDERABAD, SEPT. 29.

ALMOST on the heels of the terrible disaster at Mutge, two more breaches have happened on the Nizam's Railways : one at Musapett on the Hyderabad-Godaveri Valley line and the other near Gutkasar on the Bezwada section, resulting in a temporary suspension of through-traffic. For purposes of mail and passenger service, transhipment was resorted to of necessity ; but this, needless to remark, entails inconvenience and trouble. While on this subject, I may add that the body of Driver Allan Thoy, who was one of the four victims in the Mutge wreckage has not as yet been recovered. It is supposed that the body is not buried under the engine but that it was carried away by the current and lost in the Godaveri river. The unfortunate man has left behind a wife and twelve children, for whom much sympathy is felt. It is hoped that the sum that will accrue to them from the Railway Provident Fund will be supplemented by some special grant by the Railway Company itself, as Driver Thoy met his sad fate in the discharge of his duties to the Company.

I hear that Mr. E. Ross, Head Master of the Government City High School and Captain H. Gay, commanding the Afghan Police, have been granted a year's extension, prior to retirement from the Service, as they have attained the age-limit under the New Pension Rules. Both men look physically fit with an apparent abundance of "staying" power to keep them in official harness for several years longer.

Owing to the heavy rain that poured last Sunday, the Moosi river has risen very high, and yesterday —the anniversary of the frightful September-flood of 1908—the river was in full tide and nervous spectators began to speculate if another disaster was not in store, particularly as thick, heavy clouds hung overhead and threatened a deluge. The sky continues cloudy and a heavy downpour is most likely. But the fact of the Moosi continuing to be in flood is abundant proof that rain is plentiful in the districts and there is no fear of scarcity or famine.

Raja Lochun Chand, who is the youngest of the three legatees of the Malwalla Estate—the other two being Rajas Seoraj and Murli Manovar—has been for years contesting his right to a share in the ancestral property. But while the High Court upheld his claimer, the Home Secretariat, supported by the Government, interfered and issued contrary orders which converted the aspect of the case into a Ministerial and judicial conflict. His Highness the Nizam has intervened against a procedure that stultifies the dignity of the Law and the Courts charged with administering it, and the probability is that the decree of the High Court will be upheld by His Highness or that a settlement will be effected by the grant of an annual allowance to Raja Lochun Chund, representing a "pro rata share" of the revenue of the jagirs belonging to the estate. It is a most deplorable circumstance that the interference of official departments of the Government with the course of justice and law should so frequently recur, after suitors have incurred heavy expenditure in prosecuting their claims according to the lex scripta. Either the judges are or are not fit for their positions. If not, the remedy should be applied, otherwise their dignity should be upheld and through them that of the Government who have appointed them to judicial office and status. Imagine the Government of India adopting a similar procedure ! When would justice be found ?

There is a blind well situated in a Mahomedan Cemetery familiarly known as Guzzatti Shah Takiya which lies east of Chudderghaut Eden Garden and west of Mukar Shah Durgah in Lingam Pally, between which two places the graveyard is equi-distant. This well is frequently resorted to by females and many drawing fatalities have occurred in it. I understand that within the past five years 10 or 15 have been drowned in this well, and the other day a young Hindu girl, about 14 years of age, who was treated unkindly by the proverbial mother-in-law, put an end to herself. The water it contains is rank poison and filthy beyond measure, and its unfenced condition is a permanent danger to life. Humanity, therefore, demands that it should be closed in at once, and it is to be hoped that the Hyderabad Municipality will do its duty by insisting on this course with a strong hand.

The office of Finance Minister appears to be doomed. Mr. G. Cawson-Walker having submitted a "Guzraish" to H. H. the Nizam stating that as the maximum period for which her services were lent terminates with his retirement from the British Government since in March next, he would consider it a flattering recognition of the services he has rendered to the Nizam's Government if his Highness would be pleased to appoint him official Director of its Railways in London, which office has been vacant for some years which His Highness has graciously done some years. Mr. Walker has also made a suggestion to His Highness which is likely to be acted upon and which will doom the office of Finance Minister. He has suggested that the Finance and Revenue Departments should be amalgamated and that Mr. A. J. Dunlop should be placed at the head as Financial and Revenue Secretary. It was pretty well anticipated that these two departments would be amalgamated on Mr. Cawson-Walker's retirement from the service and it was believed that Mr. Hyderi would beat the helm.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

HIGH COURT.

INTERIM INJUNCTION DISSOLVED.

On the Original Side of the Bombay High Court yesterday, before the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Beaman, Mr. R. D. N. Wadia, instructed by Messrs. Thakoredass and Company, moved absolute the rule for dissolving the interim injunction and discharging the receiver in the suit brought by Haji Mahomed against his brother Haji Jamal and their two minor brothers, all being sons of Haji Ibrahim Fazul, deceased.

The Hon'ble Mr. C. H. Setalwad; instructed by Messrs Tyebji Dayabhai and Company, showed cause.

The plaintiff claimed his share in his deceased father's estate. The defendant denied that he himself was in possession of any of his father's estate. This case was that he was the owner of the business in empty bottles and jars at Chuckla. He added that he was the sole executor under his father's will, on certain affidavits the plaintiff had obtained from his Lordship an ex-parte order against the first defendant, restraining him by an interim injunction from dealing with the business and property of which Mr. R. D. Setna was appointed receiver. The shops and godowns were closed up and sealed in virtue of this order and the books of accounts taken while certain ceremonies of the dead were going on in the house. The first defendant now applied to the Court to dissolve the interim injunction and discharge the receiver on the ground that he alone was the owner of the business and that his father had paid away the share of the plaintiff in his life-time.

After hearing the arguments of counsel, his Lordship made the rule absolute with costs thereby dissolving the injunction and discharging the receiver. In doing so his Lordship deprecated the practice of obtaining processes like this on the strength of cases made out on ex-parte affidavits. The defendant was relieved from the undertaking given to the Court for keeping separate books of accounts.

CLAIM FOR MACHINERY SUPPLIES.

On the Original Side of the Bombay High Court, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Beaman disposed of the suit brought by Sorabji Shapurji against the Pease Ice Manufactring Company to recover Rs. 1,401 with interest and costs for the supply of machinery.

Mr. F. Sorabji Talyarkhan and Mr. D. J. Desai, instructed by Messrs. Edgelow, Gulabchand and Wadia, appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. M. A. Jinnah and Mr. J. H. Vakeel, instructed by Messrs, Thakordass and Company, appeared for the defendants.

The facts of the case have already been reported.

After hearing the evidence, his Lordship decreed the plaintiff's claim with costs observing the defence was untenable and dishonest. The defendant's counterclaim was dismissed with costs.

POLICE COURT.

CAUSING OBSTRUCTION.

YESTERDAY, before the Girgaum Bench of Honorary Magistrates, consisting of the Hon'ble A. Hill Trevor (Chairman) and Mr. A. Tyebji, Inspector Taylor charged one Baidas Prasjivandas and twenty-one others with causing obstruction and inconvenience to the public at Sutta Gully. Inspector Sykes prosecuted. Mr. Motilal N. Mehta, pleader, defended the first and Mr. L. Kampani defended the second accused. The case for the prosecution was that on Saturday afternoon the accused formed part of a crowd of about 250 people in Sutta Gully. It was alleged Sutta speculations were going on there. It was urged on behalf of the defence that the gully in question was not a public place. The Magistrate convicted all the accused and sentenced them to pay a fine of Rs. 10 each.

DISHONEST SERVANT.

YESTERDAY, at the Esplanade Police Court, before Mr. J. W. S. Dracup, Third Presidency Magistrate, Inspector Spiers charged one Ramkisan Ramrakh with criminal breach of trust as a servant in respect of half a seer of milk. The case for the prosecution was that the complainant Mrs. Vivian Newton, who keeps a dairy at Parel, received certain information to the effect that the accused who was in her employ used to dilute with water the milk which was given to him to be supplied to customers and used to sell some of it. She accordingly informed the police, yesterday morning as the accused went out to sell milk he was followed by a policeman. Near the Sitaram Buildings, the accused sold half a seer of milk to a Bhaya for two annas and was immediately arrested by the policeman. The accused pleaded guilty and was sentenced to undergo fifteen days' rigorous imprisonment.

ATTEMPTED CHEATING.

BEFORE Mr. P. H. Dastur, Second Presidency Magistrate, Jaffer Sidick, a Mahomedan, was charged with the theft of a gold ring. The complainant went to Panachand, a Marwari, and obtained Rs. 25 on a gold ring which he pledged with him. In the evening he went back and putting a pile of rupees before the Marwari he said he wanted to redeem it. When he brought the ring the accused took both the money and the ring and ran away. The Marwari shouted out "thief, thief" and some Pathans going along the street arrested him. He was convicted and sentenced to eight months' rigorous imprisonment.

ARREST OF GAMBLERS.

YESTERDAY, at the Mazagon Police Court, before Rao Bahadhur Chunilal H. Setalvad, Mahadeo Bapu, a Hindu, was charged with keeping a gambling house and four others with gaming with dice and money, in Nesbit Lane. Inspector Shaw obtained a warrant from the Police Commissioner and raided the house at 6 p.m. on Sunday. All the accused were convicted and the first accused was fined Rs. 10 and the rest Rs. 6 each.

THE PEOPLE OF BOMBAY.

IN whatever sense it may be applied it is true that one half the world does not know how the other half lives, but in this country the occupant of No. 1 in a given street knows nothing of No. 3 and never heard of No. 7. It is the same in London, or in any other city of the world, but ignorance as to one's neighbour is perhaps more marked in Bombay than anywhere else in the world. Every man met in the course of an hour's peregrination differs from the next in race or creed or caste, and the new comer is perplexed until perplexity becomes indifference as to whether the Indian he sees on the road is a Brahmin, a Prabhu, a Mahomedan or a Parsee. In the course of time he may learn to distinguish the main sections of the community, but little more than that, unless, convinced that the proper study of mankind is man, he devotes himself to the pursuit of knowledge concerning them. For the delectation of the general and the instruction of those who yearn to acquire some degree of information concerning the many interesting people around them we would commend the chapter, entitled the "Population," in the first volume of the new Gazetteer of Bombay, which was completed and published last week. In that chapter we have an exhaustive account of everyone of them as well as of those who preceded them, their history and manners and customs and of their distinctive dress. We are introduced to every one of our neighbours and are presented too with their family history at the same time. For those who desire to go back to the beginning of the British connection with Bombay and the gradual influx of people to the island there is ample information, as there is for those who merely care to identify the people afoot within a radius of hundred yards of a given centre, any day of the week. The oldest inhabitants of the island are Palshikar Brahmins, the Pathari Prabhus, Bhandaris, Panchkalshis, Agris and Kolis. The last of these are the aborigines of the Konkan littoral, the Brahmins and Prabhus played a leading part in the early history of the island and others followed where they led, their progeny still occupying it. All classes can generally be distinguished by their head-dress and with the idea of facilitating identification Mr. C. L. Burns, of the School of Art, has added to Mr. Edwardes' letter-press in the Gazetteer a number of plates in which the photographs of pugris of the various races and castes are reproduced in colour.

According to the Municipal Census of 1906 there were 706,154 inhabitants, roughly described as Hindus, 168,677 Jains, 48,508 Musalmans, 30,223 Native Christians, 18,285 Europeans and Eurasians, 48,824 Parsis and 5,659 others. "Others" means anything and everything, and it is remarkable that the number rose from 639 at the time of the official Census of 1901. How to divide and sub-divide these would probably puzzle most people; but the section "Hindus" is more easily analysed. Brahmins, Prabhus, Bhattias, Banias, Saraswats, Kshatiriyas, Bhandaris, Marathas, Mhars, Vadvals, Agris and Kolis are readily enough distinguished—once the student knows the way—but it will not take him long once he has discovered the secret from the pages of the book we refer him to. Amongst the Hindus, we learn, it is the Pathare Prabhus who have led the van of progress. It is they who set the fashion in dress, food and mode of living. The material condition of the Hindus, however, has undergone considerable change of late years, particularly in respect of their mode of living, style of dwelling and nature of furniture. Western ideas and customs are gaining firmer hold upon them and it would appear that sooner or later the distinctions between castes are likely to disappear, for the older communities often complain that while western education has made rapid progress in the city, Hindu society has become gradually disorganised; the younger generation pay scant respect to their elders. Keen competition has curtailed their means of livelihood and many are therefore adopting the system of living in flats among outsiders, instead of as before, in one house under what is known as the joint family system. Of the Jains, a rich community, we are told that excluding the Marwadis, who are chiefly pawn-brokers, usurers and money-lenders, the Jains are wholly engaged in commerce and trade and have no hereditary priests.

The Mahomedans of Bombay are briefly described as belonging to the Sunni and partly to the Shia sects, the former being by far the more numerous. The main point of difference between the two great divisions is that the Sunnis consider Abubakir, Umar and Usman the lawful successors of the prophet, while the Shias espouse the cause of Ali, the fourth Khalifa and his sons Hasan and Husein. In Bombay the Arabs, Memons, Konkani Mahomedans, Pathans, Deccani Mahomedans and one sect of Julhais are Sunnis, while the Bhoras, Khojas, Mughals, one sect of Julhais and a certain division of the Chillichors, or Musalman hack victoria drivers are Shias. The Memons are converts to Islam from the Lohana and Cutch Bania castes and were a strong and healthy community in Surat during the heyday of that town's prosperity. When the centre of importance moved from Surat to Bombay, the Memons migrated, and indeed most other people came in large numbers when Bombay became the Presidency town. According to the "Gazetter" the Memon is not an envied customer of the local tradesman, for he is strict in his observance of the "Sunna" which commands him to haggle "till his forehead perspires, just as it did in winning the money." Rangaris, Bohras, Khojas, descendants of Hindu converts to Islam, are described, and a footnote reminds us that of Bohras Hamilton's "New Account" speaks of that "remarkable race of men, named the Bohra, who, although Muhammadan in religion, are Jews in features, manners and genius." But all who appear to be Musalmans are not of necessity of that faith, for we read that there is a tendency among Hindu and Bene-Israel dancing-girls to style themselves Musalmans and even to embrace the Musalman's faith, in consequence possibly of the fact that a Mahomedan, no matter what his or her caste or class, is always assured of decent burial after death, and can count upon other Mahomedans in the same mohalla or street to arrange that the death ceremonies are properly performed. The life of the city affords wonderful evidences of the slow changes which have gradually come over its people, and more perhaps among the Parsis is this change noticeable than among any other. Formerly they resembled their neighbours in manners and customs. Now they have but slight resemblance to any of them and year by year become more Europeanised. But of this and for a vast array of instructive matter we must leave our readers to search for themselves in the remarkable volumes now at their disposal.

HISTORIC TEMPLE AT KANGRA. It has been wisely decided to rebuild the great temple at Kangra, for it is one of the most ancient and famous shrines in North India, and the foundation-stone of the proposed new structure is to be appropriately laid to-day when one of its great festivals begins, during which thousands of pilgrims visit it from all parts of the country. The great earthquake of April 1905, razed it to the ground along with numerous other buildings of religious or archæological interest. It was by no means the first time that this famous temple had been hard used by nature or by man. Its immense riches attracted nearly all the great Mahomedan conquerors to plunder it in the insecure days before our rule. Its capture and plunder by Mahmud of Ghazni, the very first Mahomedan invader of India, are historic. Mahmud's invasion of the Kangra Valley and his capture of the temple and the town known by the ancient name of Nagarkot, even now are well known episodes in that monarch's Indian career. His court chronicler, Al Utbi, states undisguisedly his motive to have been mainly plunder. "The kings of Hind, the chiefs of that country and rich devotees used to amass their treasures and precious jewels, and send them time after time to be presented to the large idol, that they might receive a reward for their good deeds and draw near to their God. So the Sultan Mahmud advanced near to this fruit and this accumulation of years which had attained such an amount that the backs of camels would not carry it, nor vessels contain it, nor writers' hands record it, nor the imagination of an arithmetician conceive it." An idea of the riches which this temple, which has already existed for four hundred years at least before this calamity at Mahmud's hand in 1009, contained, can be obtained when it is said that that ruthless conqueror carried off seven hundred thousand gold dinars, seven hundred maunds of gold and silver plates, two hundred maunds of pure gold in ingots, two thousand maunds of unwrought silver and twenty maunds of jewels like diamonds and rubies! Much of this treasure had been lavished on the idol in the shrine which Mahmud carried away to Ghazni. Thirty-five years later in 1044, Nagarkot recovered its freedom under its Hindu king and its mountainous situation guaranteed it for a long time till another such terrible visitation overtook it three centuries later when Feroz Tughlakh once more plundered it in 1360. He despatched the image, which pious devotees had replaced after Mahmud's time, to Mecca where it was cast upon the high road to be trodden under foot. Akbar permanently reduced Kangra. On the dissolution of the Moghul Empire it passed to the Sikhs and then to the English. About the idol in this temple of Nagarkot or Kangra, which, though taken in former times to Ghazni and Mecca by fanatic Mahomedan conquerors, and frequently replaced and still exists at the present day to be reinstalled in the new temple when ready, a curious story is preserved by Ferishta, the well known historian. He records, while narrating its plunder by Firoz Tughlakh, that the Hindus of Nagarkot told that monarch that the idol which they worshipped in that temple, was the image of the wife of Alexander the Great! "That great conqueror had left the image with them which the Brahmans had made at the time he was in these parts and placed within their temple, and now that image was the idol of the people of the country." There are numerous legends connected with Alexander in Eastern countries and this about the idol in the temple at Kangra is probably one of them.

AMERICAN COTTON. The annual report of the Aligarh Agricultural Station which mainly concerns itself with improvements of the Cotton Crop, shows that during 1909-10, interesting experiments were continued with American cotton. These confirmed the view which last year's experiments had suggested that the early sowing of American cotton will yield beneficial results. Two plots of as near as possible uniform quality were selected. American cotton was sown with irrigation in one plot, on May 4th, and again in the other with the rains on June 18th. The result was that the former yielded 394lbs. of kapas per acre and the latter 217lbs. White-flowered country cotton was sown about the same times, but while the early sowing gave better results than they did in the previous year, the yield reached nothing near that of the American seed. The average on two plots was 274lbs. compared with 394. On the other hand, the late sowings of country cotton did better than American, the yield being 246lbs. or 29lbs. more per acre. The general result, however, is an overwhelming verdict for the early sowing of American cotton which showed almost a 50 per cent. increased yield on the best result produced with country seed. Another experiment was made with the sowing of the country cotton, broadcast and after the plough. The outturn in each case was practically equal, but it was found that sowing in lines much facilitated weeding and thus saved expense. Experiments were also made with ground-nuts, which selling at from Rs. 4 to Rs. 7 per maund, are a profitable crop in the United Provinces. Maize and groundnut in combination gave a very satisfactory out-turn and groundnuts are now being distributed to the cultivators for sowing. Some varieties of sugarcane from Meerut and Muzaffarnagar were also tried and did well. Much of the crop was sold for seed to cultivators in the sugarcane-growing villages. It is believed that it may be possible to introduce a superior variety to that most commonly grown, and investigations with that view are being continued.

PARIS AND FLOODS. A Paris correspondent in fear of a recurrence of last year's floods, writes impatiently of the measures under consideration as to how best to avoid another inundation. The Seine is higher than it ought to be—or was when the mail left and little, he says, has been done in the way of taking precautionary measures, for attention has chiefly been devoted to the consideration of plans and schemes without so far any practical result. The other morning, however, a large party of municipal councillors, headed by their president and vice-president, and also of councillors-general with their own president, accompanied by various high officials of the navigation department and engineers, started from Paris in the "Touriste," which went on an excursion down the Seine, which was to be extended as far as Rouen. The object of this expedition was to decide how the barrages are to be dealt with. Many of these barrages are about ten feet in height, and most of them are fixed so that when a formidable rise occurs they are in the way, and the consequence is that they tend to the flooding of the neighbouring banks. It is calculated that the river, if navigation all along it is to be assured, should be kept in every season at a minimum depth of 11ft, and so these barrages have been enlarged and considerably multiplied in the course from Paris to Rouen. Now it is argued that too heavy a penalty can be paid for these elaborate arrangements, and that some modification is necessary. The first barrage inspected by the party which set out was that of Suresnes and much surprise was expressed at the fact that the fixed portion of the old barrage, which was constructed in 1866, had been retained, some of the experts pointing out that its removal would reduce the level of the river, if it again indulged in a dangerous rise, by quite 3ft.

UNDER THE SOUTHERN CROSS.

IN TIME OF WAR.

Research in Western Australia.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

* MELBOURNE, SEPTEMBER 20.

On the last night of Admiral Bosanquet's stay in Port Pirie, his Excellency addressed the members of the squadrons of Light Horse, D. Company, Infantry, and the cadet companies. His Excellency's addressed touched on subjects of the utmost importance to Australia, and was listened to with the greatest interest. He said:—I am glad to meet here soldiers of the Commonwealth and military cadets. Australia is a vast country, containing in itself enormous stores of food and raw material, sufficient to provide for all the bodily necessities of a much larger population than it at present possesses. This vast country is entirely surrounded by the ocean, and therefore the possession of an adequate and efficient force of all arms will place the Commonwealth in a strong position for defence against an enemy attempting to land a hostile force of 20,000 to 30,000 men. In Great Britain there is rarely more than six weeks' supply of wheat and three months' supply of meat. If the command of the sea passes into the hands of an enemy there is no need for invasion, because the supply of food and raw material must then cease, manufactures must languish, industries must perish, and the army, together with the rest of the community, must starve. Therefore Great Britain can only be effectively defended by its fleet. Australia is not thus dependent upon its maritime commerce and the Commonwealth can and should depend upon the marksmanship and discipline of its own citizens to defend the country from a sudden hostile raid should the command of the sea be temporarily lost to England.

THE TROUBLES OF INVADERS.

Few people realise the enormous amount of shipping which is required to embark a large army with all its accessories of guns, horses, ammunition, and forage and provisions. If the voyage to be undertaken is of any considerable length the number of ships and transports required would be considerably increased, and months of preparation would be necessary. You must remember that when an invasion is contemplated the whole force must arrive together, ready to make a resolute co-operative and simultaneous effort. The amount of shipping required for this purpose is beyond the power of any ordinary nation and would tax heavily the mercantile resources of a first class maritime Power. Before such an undertaking could have a chance of success, the hostile army must be opposed by and try conclusions with the whole combined naval and military power of the British Empire. A sudden coasting raid by a few cruisers of the enemy is another matter, but men-of-war cannot carry troops or land men, as after a short bombardment their magazines would be depleted, leaving their ships without sufficient coal or ammunition to encounter our own squadron, which would be immediately on their track. The object therefore of the compulsory military service, which is about to be established by the Commonwealth, is to enable Australians to defend their country against an attempt of an enemy to invade this country by a force of 20,000 to 30,000 men during a period when the command of the sea has been temporarily lost in this quarter of the globe.

STRATEGIC RAILWAYS.

Lord Kitchener has warned the Commonwealth that the different railway gauges in most of the States have isolated each railway system and that the want of systematic interior connection makes the present lines running inland of little use for defence. It is obvious that it is the duty of the Federal Government, without unreasonable delay, to construct the two great strategic lines across the continent. These lines ought to be of uniform gauge if military requirements are to be properly met, and should connect with the termini of existing inland railways. Although the weakest point of defence in the Commonwealth if the cost of the Northern Territory and Northern Queensland those coasts owing to their geographical configuration are ideal situations for the defensive operations of a flotilla of destroyers especially when acting against an attacking fleet hampered by the necessity of protecting a large number of unarmed transports. Such a flotilla backed up by the Australian China and Pacific squadrons acting from a fortified base in the vicinity of the northern coastline, would be far more valuable for defensive purposes than a number of fixed shore defences dotted about more or less at random without the possibility of mutual support or co-operation. This brings us to the naval element of defence, the new Australian squadron will be self-contained, unapproachable by battleships on account of its speed, and when joined by the similar squadrons from China, the East Indies, the Pacific, and Cape stations, able to hold its own against any force likely to be found in the Western Pacific. Admiral Sir Reginald Henderson is shortly to arrive here. Our aim should be to endeavour by all means in our power, with the utmost tenacity and constancy, to raise the standard, not only of national marksmanship, but also of the national discipline and efficiency to the highest pinnacle of perfection.

RESEARCH IN WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

Western Australia is now receiving much attention as a field for scientific research. The Cambridge ethnological expedition, of which Mr. Alfred Brown is the leader, is now about to leave for the interior, and a Swedish expedition, which is to spend 18 months in the north-west, has arrived at Fremantle in the Swedish-Australian liner Hellenic. Dr. Eric Mjoberg, scientist, of Sweden, who is leading the Swedish expedition, has conducted researches in zoology in various parts of the world. He is accompanied by Messrs. Rudolf Sydenberg, B. A., and Y Laurell, secretary of the Royal Swedish Museum of Natural History, and five other experts. The researches will cost £1,100, and the money has been provided by the Stockholm Academy of Sciences and private subscriptions in Sweden. It is intended to make a large collection of objects of natural history, including animals and fossils, and efforts will be made to see how far and to what extent immigration has taken place from the Malay Islands, and its influence on flora and fauna. Two excursions are to be made the first from Derby up the Fitzroy River to Leopold Ranges, and the second from Derby along the coast to the northernmost point of the Kimberley district. Special attention will be devoted to the animal life in the bays along the coast and to obtaining additional important results to those of the German (Michaelson and Hartleyer) expeditions from a marine point of view. Dr. Mjoberg states that the assistance of the Federal and Western Australian Governments has been promised to the expedition. Mr. Alfred Brown explains that his proposed travels in the interior have a double object. He is interested mainly in the aborigines, but Mr. Grant Watson, who is accompanying him, will study the fauna of the country. Mr. Brown has not yet mapped out his itinerary. The Australian aborigines, he says, are attracting more attention from the scientific world than the aborigines of any other country, as they represent a peculiar phase of society or social organisation, in that they personify in certain features a stage in the past history of man. Everywhere Western Australia has been chosen for research, because the aborigines are rapidly dying out. A controversy has been caused with regard to Totemism, a peculiar form of social organisation and religion which exists in Australasia in one of its forms, and is also found in North America, Africa, India, Melanesia, and New Guinea. It is the most primitive form of civilisation known, and the expedition will test some of the theories put forwards about it.

CHURCH AND STAGE.

Recently in Melbourne Archdeacon Nash spoke on "The pleasures of line," and during his address propounded the question, "Can a Christian go to a theatre, dance, or smoke?" Mr. Matheson Long, the well-known actor, who is about to appear in Adelaide in the passing of the Third in Floor Back," gives the following reply to the clergymen's interrogatory:—"I think it is rather late in the day for Archdeacon Nash to reopen a question touching the relationship between the Church and the stage, seeing that it has long ago been conceded that both have something in common. The stage can preach a message trumpet-tongued to all the world just as effectively as the Church—and reach all classes. I am sure that no one need ever feel any the worse for witnessing a legitimate production at a theatre. The educative facilities possessed by the stage cannot be doubted. I think that I can justly speak with some authority on the subject of Church and stage. My father is parish minister at Inverness. My cousin is Archbishop of York. I commenced my studies with a view to entering the ministry, and for many nights I have appeared in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," which has been more preached about from the pulpits of England than any other play ever written, and which itself teaches one of the noblest and greatest lessons ever given from the stage. People who go to theatres can be good Christians, and good Christians need be none the worse for going to the theatre."

LABOUR IN SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

A return published by the Government statistician gives interesting figures regarding the labour employed in the factories of South Australia. The figures cover a period of one year, ended December 31 last, and the compilation is a comprehensive one owing to the fact that the returns of every factory, workshop, or mill employing more than four hands are included. In the 1,265 factories there were 25,709 hands employed, and 20,753 of these were males. This shows an increase of 1,441 on the previous year's figures. The employes under 16 years of age numbered 1,671, a decrease of 76 as compared with the previous year. The percentage of sexes shows a slight increase in the female employes, the percentages being—Males 80,72, or a decrease of .34; females 19,28, or an increase of .34. The distribution of hands is as follows:—Working proprietors, 1,291; managers and overseers, 584; accountants and clerks, 903; engine-drivers and firemen 504; workers, skilled and unskilled, 21,352; all others, 1,076. Excluding the amounts drawn from the business by working proprietor the salaries and wages paid totalled £2,028,691 (£1,927,039 last year), or an increase of £101,652. Excluding the number of working proprietors the wages paid during the year averaged £33 1-8 (£33 13-10 last year), being a decrease of 11-2, on the previous year. This decrease per employed is due to the metal-works, which employed 6,731 hands. The period of the operation of the smelting works averaged only 6 months, against 12 months in 1903. Excluding smelting works from the grand total for both years the averages per employed would be £31 5-1, as against £79 10 6 last year, or an increase of £115-2.

SHOWS.

The countryman is in town to enjoy to the full the many diversions of city life just at this particular season of the year, to confer with his fellow-producer on subjects of common interest, and to see all that is to be seen at the great exhibition promoted by the Royal Agricultural and Horticultural Society. There is a little need to apply to hotels coffee palaces, and other places of accommodation to learn that this year's influx will be a record. Ample evidence on that points is found in the principal streets of the city. In the former years when the drought lay like a blight over the land excursionist from the country at show time were by no means so numerous and their general bearing was not one hopefulness the immediate future. All that has been changed in recent years. For many seasons in succession the farmers have garnered bountiful crops, prices have held, and coincident with the permanent prosperity of the settled agricultural areas there has been a remarkable development of enormous areas of new countryman in town for the show is now a prosperous individual generally, possessing the freehold of his farm as well as a solid credit balance in his bank, and naturally his outlook on life is optimistic in the extreme. All portions of the State are represented in the crowds of country folk that throng the city streets. Many have come from the far distant West Coast and from the newly-settled Eyre Peninsula country. There is quite a large number of pioneer settlers. The Pinnaroo district, too, is much in evidence, and well known face from all the older agricultural districts may be seen on every side. Record traffic is reported on all railway lines, the special trains being well filled with excursionists.

FREEMASONRY ATTACKED.

Cardinal Moran, speaking at Burwood on Saturday, attacked Freemasonry. The Cardinal said in regard to the Eucharistic procession to Montreal that some serious news had been received. To this great international objective no fewer than 500,000 pilgrims made their way, yet strange to say only one very brief message had been cabled to Australia concerning at. He did not blame the papers. The morning papers did a great deal of good in chronicling events, but they had to take what was sent to them. He did, however, blame the agency that arrogated to itself the duty of despatching cable news to the papers here. Some of the misleading cables sent to this country were evidence of the control of Continental Freemasonry, and it was owing to their influence that this great event was not mentioned. The Acting-Governor of Canada, in welcoming Cardinal Vanutell, had made use of the word "homage," and the incident had been magnified into an important matter. The Acting-Governor used the expression "homage" in its French sense, saying "I present my homage." There was an outcry inspired by Freemasons at this. It was also reported the Cardinal Vanutelli had fainted. Such was the class of news sent through an agency hostile to the Roman Catholic Church.

VICTORIAN RAILWAYS.

Great increases in railway revenue have marked the opening of the new financial year. For the first two months, July and August, the revenue was £663,538, against £585,944 for the corresponding month of last year or an increase of £77,794. This shows a clear rate of increase of nearly £1,500 a day, which exceeds all records remembered by the departmental officials. Even this rate however is increasing. For the ten days ending August 31, the return for which was placed before the Commissioners today, the revenue was £119,316, or £29,633 more than for the corresponding ten days of last year. For the period covered by these figures the revenue increased at the rate of nearly £3,000 a day. The greatest increase was in revenue from the carriage of staple products and manufactured articles. For the ten days the revenue from this traffic increased by £16,683 over last year's figures and for the two months by £42,046. The passenger revenue increased by £29,519 during the two months and by £10,229 during the ten days.

The injuries of Captain Dickson, who sustained a fall from his aeroplane at Milan, are most serious. M. Thomas is recovering rapidly.

LONDON, OCT. 3.

Captain Dickson is still unconscious. He has a fractured pelvis.

The collision was due to the machines limiting the airmen's vision. M. Thomas was in a swift monoplane, 150 feet above Capt. Dickson's slower bi-plane, and travelling in the same direction. He was unable to see Capt. Dickson, and suddenly swooped down, crashing into the bi-plane like a vulture pouncing on its prey.

BARGE SWAMED BY WAVES.

Many Drowned.

LONDON, OCT. 3.

Reuter telegraphs from New York that a towing cutter drew a barge, which was overloaded, into the wash of an excursion steamer. The waves swamped the barge and flung the struggling mass of men into the water. Darkness militated against the strongest swimmer. The midshipman in charge of the barge plunged into the water himself and was drowned. A sailor rescued four more and then sank himself. Altogether twenty-nine were drowned, twelve are missing.

RELIGIOUS RIOTS IN SPAIN

Free Fights in Many Towns.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]
LONDON, OCT. 3.

Reuter telegraphs from Madrid that large demonstrations took place throughout Spain yesterday against the Government's anti-clerical policy. They led to disturbances in Madrid and many other towns. Anti-clericals exasperated Clericals by singing the Marseillaise and cheering the Republic. Combats ensued. Sticks and stones were used and in some cases revolver shots were fired. Numbers were injured. The police freely used their sabres and dispersed the crowds.

ANTI-OPIUM CAMPAIGN.

Righteousness without Self-Sacrifice.

LONDON, OCT. 3.

The Times, in a leader, refuses to endorse the appeal of the Society for the Suppression of Opium Traffic for the acceleration of the suppressive arrangements in India or the appeal to Christian Churches. It quotes Colonel Seely's remark of three years ago that righteousness in this matter was ours and the money concerned was other people's.

The Times holds that these appeals should not receive general support until some willingness is shown to assist India, the Straits, and Hongkong during the period of the grave financial stress which the extinction of opium traffic will produce.

NEAR EASTERN SITUATION.

Peaceful Attitude of Greece.

LONDON, OCT. 3.

A Times' telegram from Athens states that the extreme gravity of the external situation is fully realised in responsible quarters. The issues of peace or war are believed to rest not with the Turkish Government but with the irresponsible Young Turk Committees which practically control the army and navy and may at any moment decide on an invasion of Greece.

Alive to the danger the Greek Government has deprived the Turkish war party of the only excuse for aggression by decreeing vacant the seats of the three Cretans elected to the Assembly. It is hoped that the Powers will again exert themselves at Constantinople by urging the withdrawal of Turkish troops from the neighbourhood of the Frontier.

ARCHITECTS IN INDIA.

Need for Indian Pupils.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)
SIMLA, OCT. 3.

Mr. T. Begg, Consulting Architect to the Government of India, has issued an interesting report on architectural work in India for the year 1909-1910. The report commences by alluding to the new appointments, which have been sanctioned, viz., Mr. Munnings, Architect to the Government of Bengal and Mr. Thomas, Assistant Architect to the Consulting Architect, Government of India. There are now six trained architects in the Government service, and in touching on the system of training pupil in the Architects' offices, Mr. Begg says that Mr. Hale, the first incumbent of the post, is about to proceed to London, and Mr. J. C. Brandon, from the Bishop Cotton School, has succeeded him, and he hopes that Indian pupils will be encouraged to come forward.

If more Indians joined the profession, it would help to create a class of efficient assistants, the want of whom is badly felt in India, and tends to materially raise the status of the Architects' Subordinate. He hopes a special effort can be made to induce Indian youths of good family to join as pupils. The report alludes to the modelling studio which has been started in Calcutta on the lines of that in the Sir Jamsetjee Jeejibhoy School in Bombay. A series of excellent photographs are published in the report showing the progress of architecture in India throughout the year, and the important works which have been completed or reached a definite stage. A list of 32 works dealt with by the Consulting Architect and reviews of work accomplished in the various provinces completes the report.

POONA GIRLS' HIGH SCHOOL.

Prize Distribution.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)
POONA, OCT. 3.

One last public function attended by His Excellency Sir George Clarke in Poona this season was the distribution of prizes to the pupils of the High School for native girls and Training College for women in the city. This institution was started in 1884 by the late Mr. Justice Ranade on the basis of the grant of Rs. 10,000 which Sir William Wedderburn offered in memory of his brother, Sir David Wedderburn. In 1889 the Government Training College for women was handed over to the Society by Government and it has been managed by it ever since. The Society has thus under it a High School for native girls, a Training College for women and a Primary School with 471 pupils on its rolls.

THE GOVERNOR'S SPEECH.

In addressing those present, after distributing the prizes, His Excellency said:—These schools form the most interesting educational group and the late Mr. Justice Ranade showed great wisdom when he urged that the school should be started. The education of girls is making steady progress in our Presidency where we now have 1,357 teaching institutions and 123,323 pupils. The latter figure is only exceeded by Bengal and Madras. He did not believe that the beautiful characteristics of the women of India would suffer in the least from the acquisition of sound and suitable education. It is satisfactory to know that the high reputation of these Poona Institutions had attracted pupils from beyond the limits of the Presidency. He was struck by the fact that there are only 3 Mohamedan girls in the school and he hoped there would be an increase, now that the Mahomedan community are becoming more alive to its educational needs. His Excellency deplored the fact that both boys and girls in India discontinued exercise. He advised girls to learn for the sake of knowledge, to broaden the horizon of their lives, and to add to its interest. There was an unlimited field for trained Indian nurses and he hoped many would find useful occupation in life either as intellectual companions of their husbands or in useful careers.

NASIK CONSPIRACY CASE.

THE hearing of the Nasik Conspiracy case by the Special Tribunal composed of the Hon. Sir Basil Scott, Chief Justice, the Hon. Sir Narayen Chandavarkar and the Hon. Mr. Justice Heaton, was continued in the Bombay High Court on Monday.

At the outset Mr. Baptista commenced his arguments with a view to show that the Court had no jurisdiction in the case of Vinayak Savarkar. He said that the Advocate-General had stated that he relied upon Section 188 of the C. P. C. His answer to that was that that Section did not apply to this case. That Section only applied to an offence committed without and beyond British India. The Section, it was quite clear, applied only to offences committed outside India; it had nothing to do with offence committed within British India. The Advocate-General had stated that he did not rely on any offence committed in London.

The Chief Justice: I understood that the conspiracy was contemplated in India and abetment took place in London.

Mr. Baptista: It was not a distinct offence of abetment committed in London that was charged.

The Chief Justice: None of the Bench understood that.

Mr. Justice Chandavarkar: The charge speaks for itself.

Mr. Baptista: That is so, but I was told at the time that I raised the point of misjoinder that it was stated that he was not charged with separate offences, an offence in Nasik, and another in British India outside Nasik and another in London, but with one offence. But now your Lordship rules that he is being charged with an offence committed outside British India. Counsel next proposed to argue the point that if the accused's arrest in France was illegal, he could not be tried.

The Chief Justice said the Court was of opinion that the question of fact whether the accused was or was not legally arrested was not one into which it should go.

Mr. Baptista further argued that the moment the s. s. "Morea" entered French territory the warrant of arrest was no longer operative there. So that he could not be detained under that warrant. Technically his detention in French territory was false imprisonment.

The Chief Justice: If that is so, he has a right of action.

Mr. Baptista: He has. If he were free he can take action. Counsel submitted that as soon as the steamer arrived in French territory, the arrest became illegal and the accused was a free man. The whole thing rested upon that. Mr. Baptista's next point was that the complaint against Savarkar was filed before Mr. Montgomerie on the 17th January, and sanction under Section 188 was given on July 15; so that as the order did not precede the inquiry, the whole proceedings were vitiated.

After hearing Mr. Baptista's arguments, his Lordship the Chief Justice said the Court did not think it necessary to call upon the Advocate-General to address them in this matter on the point. They would put their reasons in writing before overruling Mr. Baptista's objection.

The examination-in-chief of Vithal Dattatrya Petkar was then continued.

The witness read in Marathi the reports submitted by him to his superior officer of the speeches made by Narayan Damoder Savarkar, Vishnu Mahadev Bhat, Sakharam Dadaji Gorhe and others at some of the meetings of the Mitra Mela held at Nasik at different times.

Cross-examined by Mr. Baptista, the witness said he prepared these reports from the notes which he had taken at the meetings and which he had destroyed.

Cross-examined by Mr. Rangnekar, the witness said he commenced reporting these meetings from 1905. He left the police service in 1907.

Vaman Narhar Dani, constable of the Nasik police, examined by the Advocate-General, deposed to his having submitted a report to his sub-inspector regarding the proceedings of a meeting held in the Brahmanand Theatre on the 1st January, 1906. At that meeting Vinayak Savarkar was one of the speakers. The witness read his report of Savarkar's speech in Marathi. He similarly reported a meeting held at Nava Darwaza on the 21st April, 1906, when Vinayak Savarkar delivered a lecture on Mental and Physical Culture. Sakharam Dadaji Gorhe was another speaker at the meeting. The witness attended a third meeting on the 22nd April, 1906, when Savarkar spoke on the same subject.

Cross-examined by Mr. Baptista, the witness said the speeches he read out were not whole speeches. He had destroyed his rough pencil notes of the speeches.

Gungadhar Vaman Barve, printer of the Vidya Bhushan Press at Nasik, deposed to his having published 1,000 copies of a handbill convening a meeting at the instance of Ganesh Damoder Savarkar.

Keshav Raoji Gondalekar, formerly working at the Jagat Hitechu Printing Press, Poona, deposed that the press belonged to his father in 1906. The witness wasshown the Marathi edition of the life of Mazzini. He said the book was printed at his press in 1906. The manuscript of the book was brought to the press at Poona by Ganesh Damoder Savarkar. Two thousand copies were printed by his order. Twenty-five copies were taken away by Barve in April 1907; 15 were given to one Chinchalkur, who had corrected the proof-sheets; 25 were given to the owners; and 167 were sent to Nasik on the 12th June.

Cross-examined by Mr. Baptista, the witness said he did not know what became of the manuscript.

Police Inspector Vithal Anaji Kakre of Jalgaum, examined by the Advocate-General, said in 1907 he had received instructions to follow certain persons and listen to their speeches. These persons were Balwant Ramchandra Barve of Kothare, Nasik, Vaman Sakharam Khare alias Baba Saheb Khare of Nasik, and others. The witness attended a meeting held at Bhivandi on the 23rd June, 1907, when Barve made a speech. The witness took notes of the speech and made a report about the same. He read it out in Court in Marathi.

Further hearing of the case was adjourned.

FOREIGN GOODS SENT ON APPROVAL.

Exempted from Duty.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)
SIMLA, OCT. 3.

A Customs Circular is issued revising the existing rules regarding the levy of duty on articles of foreign production re-imported into British India. The following are the main portions:—

It has been represented to the Government of India that the existing rules operates as a restriction on the sending of articles of foreign merchandise "on approval" to the Straits Settlements and other countries as such articles are liable to payment of duty on re-importation. The Government of India are of opinion that a concession in favour of such articles may be made without entailing risk of loss to the Customs revenue and they have therefore decided that articles of merchandise of foreign production, taken out of the country by bona fide commercial travellers on behalf of bona fide firms having their headquaters in British India or sent by post or otherwise by firms in British India "on approval," shall be exempted from the payment of Customs duty on re-importation, or in the alternative such goods may at the option of the exporter be exported subject to a drawback of seven-eights of the duty paid on them at the time of the original importation. Seven-eights only of the duty leviable being charged on subsequent re-importation, provided in either case that the articles not sold are re-imported within one year from the date of their exportation and that the Collector of Customs is satisfied of the identity of the articles re-imported. Exporters desiring to avail themselves of this concession will be required to submit the articles to be exported for examination and to deposit in the Customs house a list showing against each item the value on which duty was assessed or the invoice price at the time of first importation and quoting the number and the date of the bill of entry.

THE Viceroy leaves Simla on a few days' shooting excursion to Dhami.

MILITARY MATTERS.

Airships and Aeroplanes.

(FROM OUR MILITARY CORRESPONDENT.)
London, September 16.

For the foreign observer the most interesting result of the German army manœuvres up to the present has been the total failure of the air scout service. News was received on Friday morning that the Reds' Perseval II was forced to descend in the enemy's territory, owing to a rainstorm and was captured. The Blues' vessel "M 3," which was observing the Red position, was completely hoodwinked by the Reds, who erected sham fieldworks along the Oberlaenden Canals. The airship reported these as being General von Kluck's main position, with the result that General von Mackensen's force halted all night in front of the works preparing to attack them next day, while the Red army was entrenching itself several miles eastward. The sham works were most ingenious. They were purposely constructed so as to be easily visible, while tree trunks, &c., were arranged in imitation of cannon, and the crew of the air scout, reconnoitring in cloudy weather at a distance of between 3,000ft and 4,000ft, were completely deceived. In consequence, the situation, which at the opening of the operations was distinctly in favour of the brilliant cavalry leader, General von Mackensen, has altered in favour of General von Kluck, who is now awaiting the Blue assault, which will probably be delivered to-night, in a strongly-entrenched position behind the railway leading south from Preuesisch Holland, between the forest of Tranten and the village of Gruenhagen. Northward, the Reds' right flank if protected by the Second Infantry Division, while their left is covered by an imaginary Second Army Corps, which is engaging another imaginary Blue Army corps on General von Mackensen's right.

Friday morning's operations were notable for the introduction of an innovation into German field defence tactics, consisting of a conspicuous first line of earthworks intended to mask the real position of the main force and to deceive the enemy into developing himself and exposing himself to the defenders' artillery in the second line. The device, tabooed by the German commanders, was borrowed from the French, it is said, at the Emperor's personal desire. The Red Army had thrown up a line of earthworks, with every appearance of being held in strength, two miles west of its main position, on the further side of the railway. The Blue force was again deceived, and deployed with great skill and caution for the benefit of the Red scouts, while at the right moment the Red garrison abandoned the works and fell back on its second line. The Emperor William watched the operation from a neighbouring hill, surrounded by crowds of enthusiastic subjects, who had walked, cycled, ridden, and motored from all directions to see him, a captive balloon which indicated the whereabouts of the manœuvre control staff serving as a guide.

The "Parseval's" being forced to descend in hostile territory, and its consequent capture yesterday, were due to a breakdown of the cylinder. The General Staff maintain that in actual warfare it would have been able to get back to its own army, but that this would have involved an amount of damage unjustifiable for manœuvre purposes. It was observed that this year the cavalry were much readier to dismount and fight afoot with their carbines than formerly. The manœuvres were also remarkable for the rigid economy everywhere noticeable, even cartridges being used as sparingly as possible. This parsimony has probably been enjoined with a view to the forthcoming quinquennial Army Bill, which means a considerable addition to the burden. Everybody who has been following the manœuvres is agreed that the new grey field uniform possesses the advantage of invisibility to a remarkable degree at a distance or in the dusk. Its wearers vanish even under conditions when dark objects are still visible. For instance, grey-clad cavalry in the twilight were momentarily mistaken for riderless horses.

FRENCH ARMY TRIALS.

The wonderful results obtained by the aeroplanes during the French manœuvres have been openly acknowledged by the two generals commanding the adverse army corps. They stated in the presence of M. Fallieres and the Minister of War that information which they had received from the aviators caused them twice to change the order of battle. This, considering that the aeroplane service this year is, after all, only rudimentary, is a brilliant demonstration. As an example, the early morning operations of the third day may be cited. General Picquart, commanding the Reds, had concentrated all his efforts on his right to prevent the advance of General Meunier, who is considered as one of the best strategists in France. It was no easy matter to meet such an opponent. General Picquart went to the front himself to direct the movements. The Blues were attempting a dangerous move for him, enveloping the Reds in a vast sweeping circle. He did not know that this was only a feint, and that in a short time the real forces of the enemy would have come down on his left with overwhelming numbers. General Picquart was standing on an eminence near Dameraucourt, when an automobile drove up, and Lieut. Sido jumped out. He had just made a reconnaissance with M. Menard. The wind had been very strong, and rain had been pouring down. In spite of this, they had been able to get a good view of the enemy's position. They had seen a great massing of troops to the left, and the Colonial Brigade, of which Lieut. Sido himself was a member, was stationed at Previlliers, and formed the nucleus of General Meunier's troops on that side. General Picquart at once mounted his horse and rode off to direct his main forces to his left. The result was that the strategetic move of General Meunier was met on even terms, and at the conclusion both armies remained on their positions, neither side having scored a decided advantage. The steerable balloons, which had been waiting in their sheds for a favourable opportunity to take part in the military operations, finally had their chance also, and three of them, the Clement-Bayard, the Liberte, and the Colonel Renard, sailed on an important mission. The fact that they carried out the orders which they had received is sufficient to show that, side by side with the brilliant performances of the aeroplanes, dirigibles may also have an important field of utility. The Clement-Bayard, for instance, was asked to effect a reconnaissance over Grandvilliers early in the morning, and accomplished it in perfect safety. On its return General Miehel, the director of the manœuvres, ordered it to proceed at once to Paris, a distance of seventy-five miles, and to keep the army of the north in communication with that of the capital. The airship, with a full supply of petrol, started at 3-10 p.m. and followed a course over Beauvais, Saint-Crepin, Pontoise, and Argenteuil, arriving in Paris at 5-27. It had seven passengers on board, Major Havard, Major Ferrie, Lieutenant Tixier, and several non-commissioned officers as machinists.

DIRIGIBLES AT WORK.

Major Ferrie, who was in charge of the wireless apparatus, was constantly in communication with the Eiffel Tower and with the wireless station at Grandvilliers. The airship sailed steadily at a height of about 1,200ft. and at Beauvais and Pontoise several batches of messenger pigeons were released for Amiens. On landing at Issy-les-Moulineaux the officers at once got into a motor-car and reported at the Ministry of War. The Clement-Bayard had accompanished its mission and had on its way transmitted important messages between Paris and the army of the north. Of course, much of the success of such an operation in time of war would depend on the mere hazard of the weather. But a commander who had a certain number of airships in reserve, and who made use of them on favourable occasions, would appreciate the assistance which they might render at a critical moment. The Liberte, which had been waiting for orders at Chalais-Meudon, received them early in the morning. Its mission was to proceed to Grandvilliers. The airship started at 10-40 in the morning and headed at once for its destination, which it reached early in the afternoon. The Colonel Renard received orders to follow the Liberte, and started at the same time from Issy-les-Moulineaux. The two airships sailed together as far as Mereu-sur-Oise, and the Colonel Renard then returned to Paris, where is arrived at 2-45 p. m. Its mission had been to escort the Liberte, and in case of need to replace it. But, as all was going well, and the greater part of the voyage had been accomplished, the Colonel Renard came back to headquarters. The two airships had been travelling at the rate of twenty-five to thirty miles an hour, partly against the wind. In the evening the Liberte made a scouting excursion over Grandvilliers, which was also successful.

DIRIGIBLE FOR ENGLAND.

The new Lebaudy dirigible of over 10,000 cubic yards capacity, constructed at Moisson for England and paid for by a public subscription, organised by the "Morning Post," has been completed, and has already made its first trial trip. It was to be piloted first by M. Juchmes, but at the last moment M. Capazza was named to pilot it. It started out at five o'clock in the morning and made an excursion of half an hour, after which it returned to its shed. The trial seems to have been satisfactory. During the preliminary tests part of the frame became twisted, and had to be repaired. The balloon is the largest yet constructed in France, having nearly one-fourth more gas capacity than the new Clement-Bayard which is now taking part in the manœuvres. Thus in size it is almost equal to the Zeppelin airships. This Lebaudy dirigible is of the so-called semi-rigid type, that is to say it has an interior framework and a keel to maintain its shape. Owing to its larger capacity it is more elongated than airships hitherto built on this principle, and it is therefore also more difficult to keep it in equilibrium. Its length is about 320ft. and the largest diameter 39ft. There are two propellers of wood, 16ft. in diameter, and driven at the rate of 240 revolutions per minute. On the supposition that circumstances are favourable it is believed to be capable of travelling at the rate of something like fifty or fifty-five miles an hour. As soon as it can be got perfectly in trim, which may be this autumn, it is proposed to sail it over to England, and it would thus have the honour of being the first dirigible to cross the Channel. The difficulties of such a voyage are well known. They arise chiefly from the fact that, as one approaches the coasts, strong and contrary winds have to be encountered, and there are few days in the year when such a bulky mass could safely undertake the crossing. The pivoted landing-gear is a special invention of M. Julliot, the chief engineer to the Lebaudy firm, one of its great advantages being that it enables the airship to be turned in any desired direction. The balloon is designed to have a range of use of at least 300 miles without alighting for supplies, and to travel that distance in a triangular course of 100 miles along each side, which tests an airship's ability to tackle a side-wind, impossible to most known types of airships. As for a point-to-point journey, especially if there were a favouring wind, an airship that could do a 300 miles' triangular course could easily do anything up to 1,000 miles in a straight-away run with a favouring wind. The two wooden propellers are placed symmetrically on either side of the car, and turned in opposite directions. They are canvas-covered, painted red, and are built up of wood in fourteen sections, the grain of each section running in the opposite direction to that of the companion one. The car provides accommodation for twenty persons, and is divided into a compartment for the chief mechanician, a compartment for the motors, a stern compartment for the assistant-mechanicians, additional passengers, ballast, reserve petrol, and so forth, a compartment for landing apparatus, guide ropes, and "serpents," or anchors, for use either on land or sea, a compartment for the look-out man and passengers in the tapered box, and a compartment for the aeronauts, wherein the pilot and his assistants are stationed to direct the course of the airship alike vertically and horizontally. The new airship will be presented to the British Army after a series of further tests, the conditions of which have been drawn up by the War Office. The work of the construction has taken an entire year, and the airship's elongated form is purposely designed to increase its possible speed. The envelope has been made very staunch, and it is calculated that it will at most lose 6 per cent. of gas in twenty-four hours. There are three ballonets that can be filled with compressed air by the motor, and from which the compressed air can escape automatically when the pressure in the major envelope exceeds the desired maximum, so that there is no likelihood of bursting. These ballonets are an important factor in enabling this dirigible to travel at a height of from 6,000 to 6,500 feet, at which altitude it would be well beyond the range of an enemy's fire. In case anything should go wrong with the safety-valves to these ballonets, they are so arranged that they can be controlled by hand. This system also enables them to be used for lowering either the forward or rear of the balloon during a flight. The balloon can be raised mechanically, and automatically. Automatically it can rise by the force of the gas within the envelope, or by lightening the load carried, as by throwing out ballast. Mechanically, it can be lifted by using great elevator planes, such as are employed on aeroplanes, and which in the case of this balloon are fitted between the car and the rigid stays under the main envelope, while great difference from former types is in being furnished at the forward end with a landing pivot.

TWO BENGALI SUSPECTS ARRESTED.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)
CALCUTTA, OCT. 3.

An Inspector of Calcutta, C. I. D., late on Saturday night recognised and arrested two Bengalis, named Norendra Chatterjee and Sasudar Bose, in a thoroughfare near the Medical College Hospital. Noren is alleged to be an absconder in the Howrah Political Gang Case, at present pending before the Special Tribunal, while Sasudar Bose is suspected to be connected with the Alipore Bomb Conspiracy Case.

As a result of subsequent enquiries it was ascertained that they resided in the Kumartoli and Jorasanko section of the town. In consequence of this information Inspector Hyder raided the houses of two suspects yesterday and in course of investigation seized many books, documents and papers believed to be of an incriminatory nature.

Both Norendra and Sasudar were placed this morning before the Commissioner of Police, who, after going into the details of the charges, remanded them into custody pending further enquiries.

BORDER UNREST.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)
LAHORE, OCT. 3.

During the last week of September a number of Zakka Khels are reported to have committed a raid in the village of Shahi near Jammu. The villagers made a bold stand against the raiders, and pursued them to some distance. One of the raiders is reported to have been captured.

SIMLA, OCT. 3.

It is understood that the Adam Khels, one of the principal Afridi clans, are getting increasingly restless and that special precautions are being taken to the Attock and Khusalgarh bridges over the Indus. It seems that a jirga is to be held next Wednesday after the termination of the Ramzan.

DACCA CONSPIRACY CASE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)
CALCUTTA, OCT. 3.

At to-day's hearing of the Dacca conspiracy case four formal witnesses were examined before Mr. Bentinck, Special Magistrate of Dacca. Of these, two police witnesses deposed to have recorded information about the Rajendrapur Train Dacoity, one of overt acts of the alleged conspirators and the other two were search witnesses. The Court rose early as no other witnesses were present.

BOMBAY CORPORATION.

The Recent De Souza Street Fire.

A MEETING of the Bombay Municipal Corporation was held in the Municipal Hall yesterday afternoon Dr. K. E Dadachanjee, the President, occupying the chair.

Consideration was given to a letter from Mr. Moraraji Veerjee inviting attention to the state of Anant Rishi Lane, a private lane off Cathedral Street, Bulleshwar and stating that the lane has been of late so much impaired that it contains pits and holes that water accumulates and stagnates in the pits during the monsoon and gives out a bad smell, and that at present the lane is in a very filthy condition. He further stated that as the lane was a private one the owners of the houses abutting on the lane be compelled to have it repaired or that the Municipality might repair it and recover the expenses from the house-owners.

Dr. Master moved that the matter be referred to the Commissioner for favour of report.

Dr. Jehangir J. Curseiji, seconding the proposition, remarked that if necessary the Act might be so amended as to empower the Commissioner to compel owners of a private lane to repair it.

The proposition was agreed to.

ADDRESSES TO THE VICEROYS.

On the motion of Sir Bhalchandra Krishna, the Corporation adopted the draft of the farewell address to His Excellency the Viceroy on his retirement and an address of welcome to the Viceroy-Designate on his arrival in Bombay.

THE RECENT FIRE IN DE SOUZA SREET.

Dr. Abdul Satar Ayub Gaya according to previous notice moved:—"That the letter, dated the 16th September 1910, from Mr. Mahomedali N. Chaiwala, forwarding an editorial of the "Sanj Vartman" of the 16th September 1910, commenting on the proceedings of the Corporation regarding the recent fire at DeSouza Street, together with the following extracts from the editorials that appeared in the "Bombay Samachar" and the "Jam-e-Jamshed" of the 17th and 20th September 1910, respectively, on the same subject, be recorded. (Here he gave the extracts.)

Dr. Sukhia seconded the proposition.

Mr. A. M. Todd inquired if in that case the extracts would form part of the proceedings of the Corporation and go on the minutes.

The President replied in the affirmative.

Mr. J. L. Brito opposed the proposition. He said that this proposal had arisen in consequence of the acceptance by the Corporation last month, of the exhaustive report from their energetic Commissioner regarding the recent De Souza Street Fire. It was not true that the matter had not been been fully considered. It was after a matured deliberation that the proposition moved by Dr. Sukhia to order further investigation was, for cogent reasons, not passed. On that occasion one or two members of the Corporation made some disparaging remarks against Government nominees, but they were treated with silent contempt. Now it appeared that three of the vernacular papers had thought fit to pass unfavourable remarks against the resolution carried by a majority which did not consist of Government nominees only, but one of them remarked that Government nominees had done an injustice to the city. He did not think this charge should be allowed to go unnoticed.

The Hon'ble Mr. Ibrahim Rahimtulla on principle was strongly against any extracts going on the record of the Corporation proceedings. He moved as an amendment that the letter of Mr. Chaiwalla be recorded without the extracts.

Mr. D. E. Wacha, seconding the amendment, remarked that it was a very sensible amendment. Nowhere in the world had he been able to find an instance even in County Councils or any other body, of the passing of a resolution recording extracts from newspapers.

Dr. Sukhia remarked that Dr. Gaya having gained the object with which he had brought forward his proposition, he would now ask him to withdraw it in favour of Mr. Ibrahim's amendment. As to Mr. Brito's remarks he could only say that as he would leave aside his own ideas and feelings on any subject and abide by the view of the constituency he represented on the Board, the Government nominees might vote from the Government point of view.

Dr. Sir Bhalchandra pointed out that by either accepting or rejecting either or both the proposition and the amendment, the extracts would go on their records against which the Corporation must get their face. He therefore suggested as a rider that the words to the effect "that the extracts accompanying the letter or mentioned in the original motion be not included in the record of the proceedings of the meeting."

The Hon'ble Mr Ibrahim Rahimtoola accepted the rider.

Dr Gaya wished to withdraw the proposition, but he was not allowed to do it.

On a division the amendment was carried.

REGISTRATION OF THE TRAMWAYS COMPANY.

"With reference to the correspondence regarding the purchase of the property at the junction of Foras and Falkland Roads belonging to the B. E. S. & T. Co., the Commissioner forwarded a copy of letter of the 16th August from the Managing Engineer of the Company intimating the registration of the Company in Bombay and to request the sanction of the Corporation to the purchase of the property in question being now completed. As the Company proposed to retain 614 square yards of land out of the 4,641 square yards originally offered to the Municipality, the Commissioner states that the amount payable to the Company would be Rs. 1,29,920 at the rate of Rs. 20 per square yard."

In the letter above referred to, the Managing Engineer of the Tramway Company stated: "I have to-day registered this Company under Part VII of the Indian Companies Act and I shall therefore be glad if you will so good as to instruct the Municipal Solicitors to complete the conveyance of the land in Foras Road now in the possession of the Corporation less, however, the 614 square yards referred to in our letter of 15th December last."

In their letter of the 15th December the Company pointed out: "Referring to our Managing Engineer's recent interview with you, we have to ask the consent of the Corporation to our cancelling the sale to it of 614 square yards of the total area of 4,644 square yards of land on Foras Road purchased by the Municipality from this Company in terms of their Resolution, dated the 13th June, 1908. The conveyance for the assignment of this land has, as you are aware, not yet been executed, and the purchase price not yet been paid. The growth of our traffic in the northern sections of the city and the probability of our having to apply before long for sanction for extension of our lines there, indicate our having to make unexpectedly large additions to the rolling stock located at Foras Road. The retention of the small strip of land in question will greatly facilitate the extension

BOMBAY UNIVERSITY.

Art and Science Courses,

A MEETING of the Bombay University Senate was held yesterday in the Sir Cawasji Jehangir Hall of the University, Bombay, the Hon'ble Sir Narayen Chandavarkar, Vice-Chancellor, presiding.

The Hon'ble Mr. W. H. Sharp moved that the subjects for the second year's course in Artsbe: English; Second Language or Ancient History: Mathematics or Logic. The Hon'ble Mr. Sharp said he was prepared to accept Dr. Scott and the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale's amendments. The effect of accepting Dr. Scott's amendment would be that there would be four subjects instead of three as suggested in his (the speaker's) proposition. The effect of accepting Mr. Gokhale's amendment would be that while Indian History had been made compulsory, the amendment would also make history an optional subject into which Ancient History might be put. There were a large number of Fellows who were in favour of having four subjects instead of three for the Intermediate course and who also felt strongly on the subject of Indian History. Their wishes would be met by his accepting the two amendments he had referred to above. He asked that these amendments be moved first.

The Rev. Dr. Scott moved an amendment to the effect that the subjects be English; Second Language; Indian History and Administration; Mathematics or Logic.

Mr. K. Natrajan was against the amendment.

The Vice-Chancellor at this stage read a telegram from the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale and Mr. R. P. Paranjpe saying they had been prevented from coming to Bombay from Poona owing to the accident on the Ghauts and requesting that if the compromise to be suggested by Mr. Sharp be not accepted, the meeting might be adjourned.

Dr. Scott's amendment was then put to the vote and carried.

As nobody moved them, the amendments which stood in the names of the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale, and Mr. Ibrahim M. Sayani fell through; while Messrs. Mirza, Setalvad and S. R. Bhandarkar withdrew the amendments they had given notice of.

Professor S. R. Bhandarkar then moved an amendment to make Logic a compulsory subject instead of making it an alternative with Mathematics.

Dr. R. G. Bhandarkar seconded the amendment, which was opposed by Khan Bahadur J. A. Dalal and Principal Wilkinson.

The amendment being put to the vote was lost.

Dr. Scott's amendment was then put as a substantive proposition and carried.

THE B. A. DEGREE.

The Hon'ble Mr. Sharp moved: That the subjects for the B A. degree examination be English and two of the following:—Languages, Mathematics, History and Economics, Mental and Moral Philosophy, Physics and Chemistry, Botany and Zoology.

Mr. Sharp said he was prepared to accept the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale's amendment.

In Mr. Gokhale's absence, Mr. D. G. Padhye moved the amendment which stood in the former's name and which proposed that "History of England, Political and Constitutional" be made compulsory.

Mr. D. Padhye said this amendment secured the desire of a large number of Fellows that English History must be a compulsory subject in the B. A. course.

Dr. R. G. Bhandarkar said he accepted this amendment as the least of the evils.

The amendment being put to the vote was carried.

The other amendments of which notice had been given were either withdrawn or fell through for want of a seconder.

The Hon'ble Mr. Sharp's proposition with Mr. Gokhale's amendment was then carried.

The Hon'ble Mr. Sharp withdrew the following proposition which stood in his name:—That in addition every candidate for the B.A. degree must show that he has studied a satisfactory course in Indian History and administration.

Mr. Sharp then moved:—That the M.A. course be designed for two years and include the following branches:—Languages, Mathematics, History, Philosophy.

Mr. Mirza Ali Mahomed Khan, though in favour of raising the standard of the examination, was against making it a two years' compulsory course. He moved an amendment making it a one year course.

Dr. Bhandarkar was against the amendment.

Principal Covernton said there was no reason why the course should be limited to one year.

Mr. Mirza's amendment was put to the vote and lost.

Mr. Sharp's proposition was then carried.

APPOINTING A COMMITTEE.

The Hon'ble Mr. Sharp moved that a Committee consisting of the Rev. Dr. Scott, Professor H. G. Robinson, Professor Anderson, the Rev. Mr. Flink, Professor Bhate, Professor L. P. Saunders, Principal Pranjpe, Principal Wilkinson, Professor Bhandarkar, Mr. Mirza Mahomed Ali Khan and the Registrar, Mr. Dastoor, be requested to frame detailed regulations for the Arts' courses in Languages, History, Philosophy and Logic, and Mathematics. He accepted as a rider the following amendment which stood in Dr. Scott's name:—That the following sentence be added to the proposition: "These regulations shall as far as possible secure continuity and progress of study throughout a student's undergraduate career; and in particular, the courses prescribed in Intermediate Logic and Mathematics shall be preliminary to, and necessary for, the subsequent courses of Philosophy on the one hand and of Mathematics and Physics on the other."

The proposal with the rider was carried.

The Hon'ble Mr. Sharp next moved that a Committee, consisting of Principal Wilkinson, Professor H. N. Allen, Mr. N. F. Moos, Dr. Harold Mann, the Rev. Mr. Sharp, Dr. A. Powell, Mr. A. M. Masani, Professor Burns, Professor Baru and the Registrar, be requested to frame in consultation with the Chancellor detailed regulations for the Science portions of the Arts course, for a B.Sc. course, and for a M.Sc. course.

Prof. S. R. Bhandarkar moved the following amendment:—That before the full point at the end the following words be added:—" and for allowing facilities to Bachelors and Masters of Arts to proceed to the B.Sc. and M.Sc. Degrees by examining them in the examination in such portions of the courses prescribed for the latter to Degrees as they have already been examined in."

The Rev. Father Dreckmann seconded the amendment.

The Hon'ble Mr. Sharp said he could not accept the amendment, which tied the hands of the Committee.

The amendment was put to the vote and lost.

Some members here suggested that the names of the Rev. Dr. Mackichan and the Rev. Father Dreckmann be added to the Committee.

The Hon'ble Mr. Sharp said he did not wish to make any reflections on the two gentlemen whose names it was suggested, should be added to the Committee. But he must say that from the very beginning of these proposals they had opposed them in principle and in details. If they appointed either of these two gentlemen, it was apparent that from the fact of their seniority one of them would preside over the Committee, and would thus be able to call its meetings whenever he liked, be able to exercise a great influence over its deliberations and the whole Committee would in fact be in his hands, as everybody who had experience of these Committee meetings could say. He said it would be simply futile to appoint a Committe if they were to be its members and in virtue of their seniority preside over the meetings. He would repeat that in saying the above he did not reflect upon their character ability, motives, intelligence or anything else. If the Committee wished to add their names, they could do it under the next proposition which he was to move.

The Rev. Father Dreckmann said he had been charged with having opposed the reform of the courses. On the contrary he had assisted towards the reform, though when he thought it his duty he had differed from the views of Mr. Sharp. He protested against the charge.

Dr. R. G. Bhandarkar said Dr. Mackichan and the Rev. Father Dreckman had been regulating the Science Courses for a number of years and therefore it would not be good to leave out their names when the courses were to be revised.

The Hon'ble Mr. C. H. Setalvad said it was very regrettable that the Hon'ble Mr. Sharp had made that attack. Whatever the views of the two gentlemen might be it was not fair to say that they had tried to obstruct the work of reform. It was a poor recompense for them to be told after so many years' services to the University that they were obstructionists.

Dr. Stanley Reed thought Mr. Sharp had been misunderstood. In this particular case one of the two gentlemen would be chairman owing to his seniority and as chairman the work of the committee would to a large extent depend on his direction. He was in favour of Mr. Sharp's motion.

Dr. N. F. Surveyor said the charges against Dr. Mackichan and the Rev. Father Dreckmann were of quite a serious character. It was regrettable they should have been made against men who had effected all sorts of reforms in the University.

Principal Covernton said that from what he had seen of the two genelemen's work in the Committee he thought their attitude had been one of opposition to general progress and reform.

Mr. D. A. Khare protested against Mr. Sharp's remarks and said the Rev. Dr. Mackichan and the Rev. Father Dreckmann should be added to the Committee.

The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor said there were no regulations to the effect that the meetings of the Committees should be presided over by the senior member present. It was only out of courtesy that the senior member present was asked to preside. He would say it would not be fair to exclude these two gentlemen from the Committee. In a talk he had with His Excellency the Chancellor, the latter had remarked to him that gentlemen holding opposite views also should be asked to state their views on any reform.

It was then decided to add the names of Rev. Dr. Mackichan and the Rev. Father Dreckmann to the Committee and to appoint the Rev. Dr. Scott and Principal Wilkinson to be Chairmen of the Arts' and Science Committees respectively.

The Hon'ble Mr. Sharp then moved the following propositions which were carried:—

"That both Committees have power to add to their number or to consult any experts in various subjects, if they desire to do so; and that the Committees be requested to consult each other so far as their functions overlap, and especially with regard to the treatment of Honours degrees, and the date when the new regulations should come into force."

"That the Vice-Chancellor be requested to inform Government of the progress made in dealing with Government letter No. 3060 of the 18th December, 1908."

THE COMING EDUCATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—I pray you will kindly insert the following few lines in your widely-read paper.

Those of your readers who have India's welfare at heart must have been shocked at recent dastardly acts committed by misdirected zeal. Expert opinion inclines to the belief that there is in our educational system something that is radically wrong and that some steadying influence is indispensable to prevent rising generation from being carried farther off the ancient anchorage. It is a healthy sign of the times that there is in England an influential body of workers organised as the "Moral Education League," whose object it is "to urge the introduction of systematic Moral and Civic Instruction into all schools, and to make the formation of character the chief aim in education. The League is doing an immense work in England, but, unfortunately, it is unable to grasp a tenth part of its opportunities for want of funds.

Now, if we bear in mind Locke's memorable dictum, "I think we may safely assert that in a hundred men there are more than ninety who are what they are, good or bad, useful or pernicious to society, from the instruction they have received," we shall be in a fair way towards correct diagnosis of the situation. Imposition of Western civilisation has not produced of itself at once the new heaven and new earth which its more ardent advocates expected of it. As Sir John Seeley remarks, nations have, as it were, very stiff joints. They do not easily learn a new kind of movement; they do what their fathers did, even when they fancy themselves most original. As a necessary consequence, therefore, the mind of an average Indian is a mere kaleidoscope of shifting views and his culture is, in most cases, pushed to mere dilettantism and flippancy.

Most Indians forget that character to be great must be individual. The man whose mind is a mere fac-simile of the passing age has little that is either great or noble about him; nothing but what has been gained by association and contact; a thin impression easily rubbed out—nothing individual The mind that makes itself felt on society, that leads, directs, and governs it, acts of itself; has no standard, save that which a knowledge of men and things will give it. Its sympathies are of the broadest character. Its desires and anticipations converge in elevating and humanising universal man; in bursting his conventional shackles; elevating him in the love of truth, and developing the divine image.

In education, we have too much lost sight of the grand end of all training. For the future, let there be a difference. A more glorious time dawns upon the rising generation. It rests with us, as to how far our offspring shall aid in bringing about this new era, in which mind shall be less under the influence of matter, and the wants of the world be supplied.

To encourage this individuality of character, this preparation for usefulness, even in the present artificial state of society, is less difficult than might be anticipated. If a child has a good physical and moral education, blended with a close attention to the opening blossoms of its tender and susceptible mind, and its powers be rightly directed, much has been done. Gradually, will the broad purpose of its existence dawn upon its mind. It will resolve to live for the amelioration of humanity.

To give religious education is well-nigh impossible in a country of multitudinous castes and creeds; nor is it worth while to teach virtue for its own sake inasmuch as such a course of study would, at best, be like the Heart of Midlothian, of which the whole last volume is dull and superfluous. In view of these facts, the Moral Education League" has published a book entitled "Youth's Noble Path" which is, to quote its gifted author's words, "an endeavour to introduce the best western ideas though the channel of Indian story and tradition, and yet in such a way as to preserve the beauty and dignity of Hindu and Moslem poetry and legend." Here is the book which India wants and which will meet with whole-hearted support from all progressive thinkers.

Specimen pages of this book and other educative literature may be obtained, post free, from the Secretary. The "Moral Education League," 6, York Buildings, Adelphi, London W. C.—Yours, &c.,

STEELE PAYNE ENTERTAINERS.

THE Steels-Payne Entertainers and Bellringers continued their performances at the Empire Theatre on Monday evening. They are a versatile and clever company and their programme, which in every item is pleasantly rendered, sustains one's interest to the end. They make a special feature of their organ chimes, which are a very clever bell-like imitation of organ music, and their performance of familiar and favourite tunes, such as "The Post Chord" and "Sing Me to Sleep" was altogether pleasing. The company is very strong vocally. Miss Kate Maher's Irish songs, delivered in a clear soprano voice, are sung with expression and feeling, but at the same time the most attractive vocal items in the programme are the part-singing in which both male and female singers join. The blending of the voices is most harmonious and their technique is excellent. To mention particular items the "Plantation Melodies," and the male quartette "Johnny Schmoker" were most acceptable. The hand-bell ringing of the company is not only dexterous but original, and they also provide some other clever instrumental pieces such as the mandoline trio given by Miss Lizzie Payne, Mr. Claude Steele and Mr. Jules Henri. Finally, the humorous songs of Mr. Tom Saunders should not be missed. On the whole the company give a thoroughly good entertainment and deserve a successful week at the Empire Theatre.

A KANARESE PERFORMANCE.

The Kanara Amateurs Dramatic Club gave a very successful performance of the "Sangith Prahalad charitra" in the Kanarese language at Ballwala Grand Theatre, Grant Road, on Sunday night, before an appreciative audience. The different parts of the drama were very nicely distributed and excellently performed by the amateurs. It looked as if a company of expert professionals had staged the play and the beautiful musical rendering was vociferously cheered and encored. The theatre was literally packed and although a part of the audience did not understand the language, still all were struck with the clever acting and the harmonious music rendered specially by the young performers. Among the audience were a number of Europeans and Indian ladies and gentlemen who went home well pleased with the performance which proved quite a success.

POONA POINT TO POINT RACES.

POONA, OCT. 3.

This evening the Poona-Kirkee Hunt held the annual point-to-point races. The spot chosen was at the sixth milestone on the Purandhar Road and in spite of the distance a fairly large gathering turned out to witness a card of five events being negotiated over a country that was intersected with nullahs and hillocks. The course except in the Diana Cup included a point over a hill to the west of the starting point and was over rather stiff country which the recent heavy rain rendered dangerous in parts. There were several falls during the evening, but fortunately none of the riders were hurt. In the Pony Hunt Cup, Jameson on 'Masher' had a bad fall which counted him out, but after a while he was able to walk in. Miss Baker on 'Sultan' came down in the Diana Hunt Cup, but was unhurt.

BY THE WAY.

WHISTLER'S AUTOGRAPH.

A Paris contemporary publishes a good story of Whistler, who, it appears, not only signed his pictures with "un papillon," but also his cheques. One day someone to whom he had sent a cheque for 32 francs appeared at the studio, highly indignant. He evidently thought that the artist had been making fun of him, and insisted, not over civilly, upon the painter's signature. Whistler was nettled, so thinking to give the man some trouble, signed the cheque as desired, knowing well that the bank would not pay the money. This was what happened. But the payee had by this time learned that the painter used the famous papillon to protect himself from the autograph hunter. Inferentially he concluded the cheque was valuable. He did not trouble Whistler again, but sold the slip to a dealer for 1,150 francs.

POPULARITY OF THE AUTOMOBILE.

It is estimated that at the beginning of the summer season there were 373,900 automobile cars in active service in the United States, and estimating their value at 1,500dols. each, their aggregate value is nearly 600,000,000dols. New York heads the list with about 69,000, California has 35,000, Illinois 27,500, Pennsylvania 26,000, Ohio 25,500, Massachusetts 25,000, and New Jersey 20,000. Naturally since these figures were compiled, there has been a large increase in the number of cars.

INEDITED RACINE MSS., AND—

In August considerable interest arose through a communication made to the French Academy by the Abbe Joseph Bonnet. This learned ecclesiastic had found in the Imperial Library in St. Petersburg a translation from the Psalter by Racine. But the Abbes good fortune did not here end. He came across another MS. concerning the authenticity of which there is little ground for doubt. It is dedicated to Louis XIV. It is richly bound, the back bearing the arms of the King and the monarch monogram in each corner. The paper bears the watermark which disitnguishes the poet's other MSS but above all, certain corrections of errors made by the copyist are amended in the poets own handwriting.

THE MYSTERY OF THEIR ODYSSEY.

The title of the second work is "Les sept psaumes de la Penitence paraphrases en sonnets." Each verse has its paraphrase; in other words, the MS. has one hundred and thirty sonnets. Each of these little poems is followed by a "Reflexion morale" in prose. It is thought that Racine had left these works to the King, so that His Majesty might see for himself that he did not hold views attributed to him by his enemies, but the King never received them. How the MSS. found their way to St. Petersburg is a mystery. They were entrusted, it is believed, into the hands of Dodart, the physician, and it seams that he placed them in other hands, but beyond that nothing is known.

THE POPE AND THE HOBBLE SKIRT.

St. Paul, who in his day denounced extravagances of fashion, would, says "M.A.P.," have echoed the Pope's strictures against the hobble skirt. Usually these vogues descend from the few to the many, but this particular mania has failed, and in a few weeks it will be laughed into oblivion. No Royal person would look at it. The style was, of course, an adaptation from the Japanese, whose women have for centuries glided through life with funny little pattering steps. But it was hopeless to fit the fetters to the stride of a Duchess. The one merit of the skirt was its brevity. It did at least keep clear of the mud, and for this reason it might have been a suitable garments for this finished summer, if it had not been so absurdly designed.

PLOTTING THE AIR.

A German aeronaut has devised a system of orientation which will help the German aviator, at least, in finding his way through the air. Each German province is provided with a number, and every community is provided with a letter. A guide-book to be carried by the aviator contains a list of provinces and towns similarly designated. Thus if an aviator sees the character "40 A I" painted upon the roof of a house in Rhineau he knows immediately where he is by referring to his book. At night these signs are to be illuminated. The system is now actually being installed in Germany.

INDOOR GAMES.

cording to the "Gentleman" Throwing the Cap od sport: Divide the guests into two sides, and se a Jeader, who stands in the middle and tosses p. If it falls right side up, the people on one laugh as heartily as they can. Anyone on the side seen to smile has to join the laughing When the cap falls wrong side up, the other turn it is to laugh and win the people over. ame usually ends in a roar of laughter, and les the ice, generally speaking. The A. B. C. e is another simple, uproarious game. Six ladies old-fashioned school slates, and six men have te pencils. Partners are chosen beforehand. A gual is given the men, who stand ranged at one of the room, rush to their partners at the other d each endeavours to write the alphabet on e held out to him before anyone else accomthe feat. Another six contest, and so on have tried. Those winning the races get the youngest Provincial Parliament member in is S. Hart Green, who was recently elected ent North Winnipeg. The new member is years old, and is a resident of the Jewish tter, where about 1,020 votes are cast by citizens of that race. The district is said to be the most cosmopolitan in Canada, having colonies of Germans French, Hungarians, Poles, Galicians, Russians, and Syrians. The young member overthrew an opposition of 20 years' standing with a handsome majority.

A CONVICT'S CONCERT.

An interesting feature of Labour Day in the United States was a private concert given by the brass band of the Eastern Penitentiary at that institution. Looked forward to an event by the prisoners for some time, many of them had been permitted to register requests for favourite elections and the programme was largely made up of familiar tunes. The band is made up of 30 pieces, all played by inmates, and is said to be the most completely equipped organisation of its kind in the country.

LAYERS AND THE DRAMA.

The announcement that Mr. Lewis Waller is about to produce a play from the pen of Mr. Hemmerde, K. C., M. P., serves to remind the Law Journal that the law's association with the drama, like its alliance with literature is intimate and old. Fielding was a prolific writer for the stage. A Metropolitan magistrate of modern times—the late Mr. Montagu Williams—wrote a number of farces before he became famous at the Bar. The High Court is represented in legal-theatrical annals by Mr. Justice Talfourd, one of whose tragedies was produced by Macready. He was, however, still a Serjeant when his last play, "Glencoe," was staged.

JUDGE PARRY AND OTHERS.

The Country-court Bench still has its representative in Judge Parry, who enjoys the distinction of being the only judge who has had a new play produced during his tenure of judicial office. Sir William Gilbert, Mr. Sydney Grundy, and Mr. Anthony Hope are among the leading dramatists who practised at the Bar in their early days, and Mr. John Cutler, Mr. Thomas Terrell, and Mr. John Strachan are to be numbered with Mr. Hemmerde among the K.C.'s who have written for the stage. Not alone by the writing of plays has the connexion between the law and the drama been maintained. Lord Campbell, when the Woolsack was among the things he had scarcely begun to dream of, acted as dramatic critic to the "Morning Chronicle."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by medicine dealers everywhere.

MEN AND MATTERS.

OUR OLDEST MARQUESS.

This is the distinction belonging to the Marquess of Atergavenny, who is eighty-four. It was Lord Beaconsfield who paid a high tribute to his abilities, and described him as possessing the remarkable qualities of 'fiery energy and perfect self-control." Throughout his life he has been a stalwart and active Conservative. To him we owe the institution of many movements in the interest of his party. He founded the Constitutional Club, and he was the first Grand Councillor of the Primrose League.

"TOMB OF THE DOUBLE AXES."

This is the name Dr. Arthur Evans gives to a wonderful find at Knossos, where he and others have been working for the past ten years. In his description of their further discoveries in the rich Cretan field which fills nearly three columns of the "Times" he affirms that this "Tomb of the Double Axes" has produced more definite evidence regarding the sepulchral cult and religious ideas as to the after-world than any grave yet opened in Crete or prehistoric Greece.

DIM ANTIQUITY.

One of Dr. Evans' discoveries takes us back to what even Homer would have regarded as dim antiquity. A partially blocked-up reservoir was discovered. It was filled in by the builders of the Great Palace at Knossos, and contained the water supply of an earlier building. Further excavations have made it possible to restore a large part of the Grand Staircase of the Palace, and work on the site in the "Little Palace," shows that it is not so little after all. Although Dr. Evans has only spent ten years in the task of excavating the prehistoric palace of Knossos his archæological investions in Crete began as far back as 1893, and resulted in the discovery of pre-Phœnician script. He is one of Oxford's most distinguished men, and it is more than a quarter of century since he was made Keeper of the Ashmolean Museum. He held that position until quite recently, and is now the Honorary Keeper. Dr. Evans has travelled far and wide in pursuit of his absorbing science.

"FRIENDAGE."

Really the lonely middle-aged woman, as she describes herself, who writes to a home contemporory on the subject of the loneliness of her class—"a comfortable house and handsome surroundings"—must be more explicit. She desires the creation of a new state which she calls "Friendage," and declares that while there are few self-respecting woman of her age, something over fifty, who would not be more or less insulted at the suggestion of marriage, they would gladly avail themselves of men's protection and guidance under a "legalised friendship which would allow of mutual habitations without the affording of scandal."

THE CONTEMPTUOUS CAT.

Cats possess an independence and powers of initiative which puts dogs to the blush, and we should not be surprised to learn that the London firemen's cat which has been lost turns up all right after its wanderings. If we do not venerate cats like the Egyptians, some of us hold them in high regard—that is, the best of them. Montaigne speculated as to whether his cat could think, and came to the conclusion it was thinking what a fool he was to spend so much time, playing with it. One always has this idea—that the cat has its moments of contempt for us.

A HUMOURIST.

Life in a small town on Lake Como is being made interesting by the pleasantries of a certain Italian Count, according to Mr. Dudley Johnson, who had just lectured at the Royal Photgraphic Society's exhibition on a recent visit to Northern Italy. The Count has revealed his subtle humour by engaging a very fat cook and then forbidding her to use his staircases. One of the daily excitements in the locality is to see the cook hauled up to her window outside the house by two men servants and hauled down again the next morning.

AN OLD SUGGESTION RENEWED.

The idea of federating the West Indies, which is again to be discussed by the various islands concerned, has frequently been brought up for consideration. But it still remains one of the unsolved problems of Empire; for no satisfactory scheme has ever been evolved, and since the islands themselves seem to prefer isolation and independence, nothing but a complete change in local public opinion can do anything towards bringing about a much-needed political reform.

ON THE COMMITTEE.

The addition of Mr. E. N. Buxton to the Lord Mayor's King Edward Memorial Committee makes it certain that proper attention will be given to any schemes for educational improvement or for the acquisition of open spaces. Mr. Buxton was long connected with the now extinct London School Board, and is now Chairman of the Essex local Education Committee. He is a Verderer of Epping Forest, and has interested himself in the preservation of open spaces there for forty years. In his leisure moments Mr. Buxton has hunted big game all over the world.

SIR ARCHIBALD HUNTER.

The newly-appointed Governor of Gibraltar, General Sir A. Hunter, whose approaching marriage is now announced could not have attained his exalted rank at such comparatively early age had it not been for his persistent habit of so distinguishing himself in the field as to win special promotion. He earned his brevet of major and his brevet of lieutenant-Colonel (with the D. S. O.) in the Soudan, and was promoted major-general for distinguished service during the Dongola expedition; his K. C. B. dates from the Nile expedition of 1898; and his promotion to lieutenant-general from the South African war. General Hunter used to be described as "the sword arm of the Egyptian army." It was written of him by the late G. W. Steevens, the war correspondent:—"He was Governor of the frontier at Halfa, Governor of the frontier at Dongola, Governor of the frontier at Berber—always on the frontier. When there was fighting he always led the way to it with his blacks. Fourteen years of bugle and bullet by night and day fighting Dervishes year in and year out. Hunter Pasha is the Crusader of the nineteenth century, from the feather in his helmet to the spurs on his heels he is all energy and dancing triumph."

MASTER OF THE MERCER'S GUILD.

Earl Selborne, the ex-High Commissioner of South Africa, has been elected, over the heads of several seniors, as the Master of the Premier Guild of the City, the Mercers, for the coming year, in view of the importance the Court attach to having a man of mark as the spokesman of the Company during a twelvemonth that, by reason of the Coronation, will be historic. Already the Court are considering in what way they should take part in the national rejoicing, and the probability is that an addition will be made to St. Paul's School. The erection of a chapel is favoured in certain quarters, and certainly this would be singularly appropriate having regard to the fact that Dean Colet was the founder, and that the orignal school included a place of worship for the one hundred and fifty-three scholars—a number corresponding with the miraculous draught of fishes.

A BLUCHER STORY.

Perhaps the most interesting of the many sitters who passed into Sir Thomas Lawrences house in Russell-square which is shortly to be demolished was the great General Blucher. Sir Thomas was painting the heroes and Platoff in 1814 all the town seemed running mad to get a sight of them. Miss Crofts a thirty years friend of the great artist relates that she acted as interpreter between Blucher and Sir Thomas since he could not speak German. Blucher told her that the crowd at Portsmouth had so present upon him as to break the crystal he showed her. The mob in Russell-square rushed in in a frightful manner even the first time Blucher sat, lining the staircase and filling the gallery at length it was scarcely possible to keep them out of the painting-room except by the aid of Bow-street officers. Blucher spoke as if it was impossible for a soldier to experience bodily fatigue and siad "C'est seulement le repos qui me fatigue" (It is only rest that tires me).

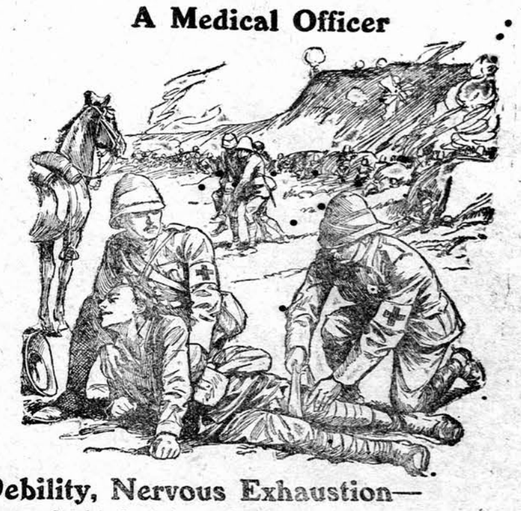
A Medical Officer



Debility, Nervous Exhaustion—

Certainly the absolute confidence of eminent doctors is evidence enough of the exceptional benefits imparted by Phosferine. Even doctors cannot do more to prove their confidence than by using Phosferine to remedy their own disorders. Could any proof be more definite, more convincing than the testimony of John Dodd, D.S.M., Medical Officer in the late South African War, who says: "After being shot through both lungs I was dangerously reduced, and I attribute it solely to Phosferine that I regained my usual health. I have proved the value of Phosferine in brain, nerve, and muscular exhaustion." This brilliant medical officer found Phosferine particularly serviceable for insufficiency of nerve force, and declares nothing was so suitable in combating fevers, chills, &c.

Not possible now

John Dodd, D.S.M. (late of the Medical Staff, 5th Imperial Yeomanry, 1st Brigade, South Africa), Ladysmith House, Witton-le-Wear, writes:—"I have had considerable experience in the use of your invaluable remedy Phosferine, and it has proved particularly serviceable where there exists insufficiency of nerve force. This condition, often due to primary weakness, lays the system open to influenza, colds, neuralgia, rheumatism, indigestion, fevers, and in remedying this predisposition I have found nothing so suitable as your preparation. Phosferine invariably goes to the root of the mischief direct. The certainty of its action is moreover an estimable feature. In debility and kindred ailments, caused by a reduced system, it has unprecedented power, and in my own case I can bear evidence to its exceptional value, and am indeed greatly indebted to its wonderful restorative properties. During the late war in South Africa, I was shot through both lungs and pericardium and that reduced me most dangerously; after taking Phosferine for about two months it brought me back to my usual health. I attribute this solely to the use of Phosferine. I have advised Phosferine in several cases, and proved its value in brain, nerve, and muscular exhaustion."—March 11, 1910.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D.,
Physician to the Westminster Hospital
"The value of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when everything else fails."

DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL,
Physician to the Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnor.
"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease, Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod Liver Oil, that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."

JOSEPH J. POPE Esq., M.R.C.S., Late Staff Surgeon, Army, Professor of Hygiene, Birkbeck Institution, London.
"I found during my Indian experience that the worth and character of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was, from its uniformity of character, particularly adapted for long-continued administration. The value of "hydro-carbons" in all debilitated states of the system is now becoming thoroughly recognised; and it is, without doubt, from the animal oils, and fats, rather than from their vegetable substitutes, that we may hope to derive the surest benefit. The Oil of DR. DE JONGH places in everyone's reach a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognised."

DR. R. C. CROFT,
Author of "Handbook for the Nursery."
"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is almost a specific in many of the diseases peculiar to infancy and Childhood, and I have seen marked benefit produced by its use. Patients prefer it to the Pale Oils, and are able to retain it more continuously."

Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is Supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, sealed with BETTS' Patent Capsule impressed on the top with DR.
